

For Immediate Release: April 10, 2008
Contact: Ben Jackson
303-674-3400

Evergreen Country Day School Hires a New Early Childhood Director:
Mrs. Gray Jessiman to start on July 1, 2008

Evergreen Country Day School is pleased to announce the hiring of a new Director of Early Childhood and Admissions for Evergreen Country Day School. Mrs. Gray Jessiman will begin at Evergreen Country Day School on July 1, 2008.

Mrs. Jessiman earned a B.A. from Univ. of Colorado Boulder and her Masters of Elementary Education (Pre-K-8th grade) from Marymount University. She is currently the Director of Admissions at Berkshire Country Day, a primary-9th grade school in Massachusetts. Prior to that Gray served as the Director of Early Childhood Education at the Dexter and Southfield School, a primary-12th grade school in Brookline, MA. In addition, she also has diverse and extensive teaching experience from early childhood through middle school. Gray will handle both the early childhood duties, oversee admissions, and provide valuable curriculum support for Evergreen Country Day School.

Evergreen Country Day School is now accepting applications for the 2008-2009 school year. Limited spaces remain in some classes. Evergreen Country Day School provides an academic program for students aged 2-middle school. ECDS provides a challenging academic program with small class sizes in a safe and supportive environment. In addition, students at ECDS have a full exposure to foreign language, the arts, and physical education. Evergreen Country Day School is a proud member of the National Association of Independent Schools (NAIS).

Our new state of the art facility for grades K-8 will be opening this summer. The facility will include state of the art classrooms, library, technology center, science lab, art studio, music, studio, dance studio, indoor and outdoor performing arts venues, cafeteria, a great hall for cultural and community events, and athletic fields. Schedule a time to visit and learn more about our new facility and our educational programs.

The school is located at 1037 El Rancho Rd., just off the Evergreen Parkway. For more information contact Ben Jackson at 303-674-3400.

###